WHO WE ARE

CivicScience is a consumer analytics platform.

VISION

Being a Foundational Source of Truth and Positive Impact for Humanity, Brands, and Media.

METHODOLOGY

CivicScience conducts large, Census-representative surveys of U.S. teens and adults through polling applications embedded in the content of a vast, demographically and geographically diverse network of partner websites. Respondents answer voluntarily and receive no rewards or compensation, mitigating the psychographic biases that plague prevailing survey panel methods. Sophisticated rules and randomization of question delivery eliminate selection bias and respondent fatigue. All respondent interactions meet or exceed current data privacy standards, ensuring complete anonymity and security of respondents. CivicScience then uses the InsightStore™ to analyze those opinions, discover market and cultural trends before they grow, and accurately predict future consumer behaviors and market outcomes.
